

Fulbright Specialist Programme

USIEF invites applications from Institutions interested in hosting American specialists at your institution under the Fulbright Specialist Program. This provides an opportunity to Indian universities and institutions of higher learning to collaborate with the U.S. faculty and professionals. In addition to sharing their expertise, specialists can help develop linkages between host institutions and U.S. institutions. Under this program, Indian institutions are selected to host an American scholar for 2 to 6 weeks. The web link below has all the details and the application form. The last date for USIEF to receive the completed application form this year is October 31, 2014.

Under the Fulbright Specialist program, U.S. Department of State will bear the flight cost and also pay a stipend/honorarium to the scholar. However, accommodation, meals and transport cost in India for the 2 to 6 week period has to be borne by the Indian host institution.
